Dear Professor Fan Liming

I sincerely thank you for your invitation to the prestigious celebrations of the 120th anniversary of Shandong University and wish to congratulate you on reaching such a significant milestone.

Our institutions share a deep and meaningful history of collaboration, which we hope will continue to prosper and see the strengthening of our partnership.

We are proud of our important research link with Shandong University across the fields of Science, Engineering and Life Sciences and are particularly pleased by the strong connections we have developed in the field of Chemistry.

These activities are complemented by our important teaching links, established in the fields of Biochemistry and Law.

We hope to continue to deepen our ties to Shandong University, who we consider to be an important strategic partner for Bristol. We remain open to all forms of collaboration with Shandong University and are committed to maintaining an ongoing dialogue to further achieve a deeper partnership.

Looking to the future, we are excited by the prospect of visiting your great institution again, and further strengthening our existing bonds.

Yours sincerely

Professor Hugh Brady
