Dear Professor Fan Liming,

I am writing to congratulate Shandong University on the advent of its 120th Anniversary.

The past 120 years has seen many changes, from your origin as Jinan, Shandong Metropolitan University, to the merger with Shandong Medical University and Shandong University of Technology in 2000 to create a larger university with expanded academic disciplines. Your continued commitment to research excellence is demonstrated with the location of two state key laboratories on your campus. The number of internationally recognised programmes at Shandong University signals your commitment to academic excellence.

As you spend time reflecting on events of the past 120 years and the hard work that has brought you to this point, I wish to convey our hope of continuing the fruitful relationship between Shandong University and the University of Bath.

Congratulations and best wishes for your continued future success.

Yours sincerely,
